

#BeSafeBeSound Campaign – Digital Toolkit for the UK’s Live Music Industry

ProtectUK publication date

01/06/2023

Counter Terrorism Policing is collaborating with the UK’s music industry to help live music fans #BeSafeBeSound this year.

Since 2019, the #BeSafeBeSound campaign has reassured music fans and encouraged them to tell security if they see something that doesn't feel right.

- You can help by sharing campaign messages with your visitors and staff.
- Encourage staff to take the free online ACT Awareness E-Learning training.

It is also a powerful way of using communications as an extra layer of protective security. Using the #BeSafeBeSound campaign and security-minded communications could help deter hostile activity at your event.

About the campaign

The #BeSafeBeSound campaign is encouraging music fans to tell security if they see something that doesn't feel right.

Over the years, #BeSafeBeSound has reached millions of people. It has been supported by major festivals and venues including Glastonbury, The O2, Leeds & Reading Festival, TRNSMT, BBC Radio 1's Big Weekend, Creamfields, Utilita Arena, Wembley Arena, and many more. Join us in keeping music fans safe!

We want music fans to stay safe and have a great time. We also want to reassure and empower them to trust their instincts. You can play a powerful role in helping us to share these important messages.

Research has shown that the #BeSafeBeSound campaign is welcomed by music fans. When we asked 18 to 24-year-olds about the campaign, over a third said the campaign would make them feel:

- More vigilant when attending a live music event
- More likely to tell security staff if they saw something that didn't feel right
- Safer when attending a live music event
- Reassured about safety at live music events

How you can help

Our toolkit is designed to be used across your channels. Depending on what channels you have available, this could include:

- your public-facing channels, such as your website, your safety and security webpage, or emails to customers;
- digital screens around your event;
- posters to print and display at your events;
- posts on your social media channels;
- stories for your staff-facing channels, such as intranets, all-staff emails and newsletters;
- Sharing the ACT Awareness e-learning with your staff

All assets in the toolkit are free to access and download. We also have content available in Welsh.

What we are doing

To help our safety messages reach as many people as possible, we are:

- advertising on social media;
- advertising around key areas and events with high footfall;
- promoting campaign messages on CTP's social media channels;
- working with the media to encourage them to promote the campaign;

- encouraging police forces across the UK to support the campaign;
- our Counter Terrorism Security Advisors (CTSAs) are working with partners to encourage them to share our messages and support the campaign.

We have provided some suggested messaging for the security sections or pages of your website. Please feel free to tailor to your organisation or event. You can also use the digital images on your website.

We would encourage you to work with your Counter Terrorism Security Advisor (CTSA) on this messaging, which can help to add an extra layer of protective security to your organisation and events.

STARTS

We are working with Counter Terrorism Policing to encourage live music fans to #BeSafeBeSound.

Counter Terrorism Policing is collaborating with the UK's biggest music venues, arenas and festivals to deliver vital safety advice to the public.

We all have a role to play in keeping each other safe. Your safety is our priority and that's why we have [INSERT SECURITY MEASURES IN PLACE].

You can play your part by trusting your instincts, and if you see something that doesn't feel right, tell security. Our teams will take every report seriously. You won't be wasting their time.

Here are some quick tips to help you have a safe and enjoyable time:

- Arrive early, allowing more time for security checks and measures.
- Be patient with security checks. It might seem inconvenient, but they are in place to help you.
- Keep it simple and minimise what you carry. Fewer bags to search will speed up entry.
- Stay alert and look out for each other. If you see something that doesn't feel right, tell security. Don't leave it to someone else.
- Don't leave bags unattended. Never agree to look after a stranger's bag, no matter how genuine they seem.

- If there is an incident, listen to staff and any announcements.

In an emergency, always call 999.

Have an amazing time, and if you see something that doesn't feel right, report it to security straight away. Thank you for playing your part. #BeSafeBeSound.

Internal communications

This is content that you can use on your internal-facing channels, for example, staff newsletters and your intranet, alongside images from the toolkit.

STARTS

We're working with Counter Terrorism Policing to help music fans #BeSafeBeSound.

Counter Terrorism Policing is collaborating with the UK's biggest music venues, arenas and festivals to deliver vital safety advice to the public. The campaign is encouraging music fans to #BeSafeBeSound and report anything that doesn't feel right to security.

We can support by sharing the need to be alert among music fans while at live music venues and festivals taking place throughout the year.

The key advice is:

- Are you heading to a gig or festival? Have an amazing time, but if you see something that doesn't feel right, report it to security straight away. In an emergency dial 999.
- Trust your instincts, you won't be wasting our time.
- Anyone can complete the ACT e-Learning on ProtectUK, this will help you be prepared in the event of a terrorist attack.

Access to CT guidance and ACT e-Learning can also be found on ProtectUK platform and app.

ENDS

More security briefing resources

Training for security staff and stewards at venues and festivals

Counter Terrorism Policing is encouraging security staff at live music venues and festivals to take ACT Awareness e-learning to recognise suspicious activity, understand what to do if someone reports something, and what to do should a terrorist attack occur.

The package is free and takes only 45 minutes.

Security briefing information for venue and festival staff

Please share the campaign with your staff. They have an important role to play in keeping events safe and reassuring visitors. Staff who aren't briefed can potentially be a security vulnerability.

Public safety advice

Our page on safety advice for the public contains security information specifically for festivals and venues.

Please add the website content in the toolkit to the security page on your website and link to our webpage. You can also link to the page on social media.

Tell us how you plan to support

We are encouraging live music venues and festivals across the UK to support the #BeSafeBeSound campaign.

We encourage you to use the campaign across all your communications, from social media to stage-side screens, to your website. We want to reach the public via as many channels as possible across the customer journey.

Have you supported the campaign? Please send photos and videos of the campaign in action! You can also contact us with any questions or queries: nctphq.comms@met.police.uk
